

CHAMBERLAIN SPURNS HITLER "PEACE OFFER"

Pension System Considered Possible In Ohio, If -----

It Will Need Some Cooperation

THE TAXPAYER interested in unscrambling the mysteries of the Bigelow pension amendment must accustom himself to the gizziness of dealing with millions.

Ohio and the federal government in 1938 spent $30,000,000, the state's share $17,000,000, in pension payments to 120,000 beneficiaries 65 years of age or more. Allowing for administration expense, the payments averaged better than $23 monthly. The present system requires the pensioner to establish his need, to have no other income, to own no property beyond a home worth $3,000.

The Bigelow plan would apply to every claimant at the age of 60, whether he had other income or not. Its phraseology is not legally clear as to the deductibility of other income from pension payments. It makes no limitation on the value or quality of home in which the claimant resides.

THE Ohio Emergency Committee

calculates there would be 1,000,000 claimants in 1940 under the Bigelow plan. Considering that 120,000 beneficiaries now must establish need, and that the age is 65, the committee believes its 695,000 estimate reasonable when the age is reduced to 60 and there is no necessity for establishing a basis of need.

The estimated cost of pensions under the Bigelow plan would be $30,380,940 in 1940. The Ohio Emergency Committee agrees that the people of Ohio could afford this sum.

IF EVERY HOME is taxed $20 a thousand of its valuation, in addition to present real estate taxes.

IF EVERY PERSON who now pays a federal income tax pays also a state income tax.

IF OTHERS not now forced to pay a federal income tax are required to pay a state tax on income down to as low as $700 a year.

IF 41,465 TEACHERS are willing to give up benefits from the state retirement fund.

IF 242,469 PERSONS on relief are deprived of present state benefits.

IF PRESENT STATE contributions are withdrawn from 49,924 crippled and dependent children.

IF PRESENT financial assistance is withdrawn from 11,862 beneficiaries of the fund for the blind.

IF 37,538 INMATES of welfare institutions are deprived of the state support.

"Vacate!" Ohio Fire Marshal Warns In New Jail Order

LISBON, Oct. 12.—While county commissioners started for time this morning, Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill of Columbus today issued another order that the ancient Columbian county jail, long condemned as a "hothouse," be vacated.

Ordered twice before to vacate the century-old building the commissioners have delayed action, pending the November election when voters will be asked to approve a two-mill tax levy for construction of a new jail.

Plans have been drawn up for a new prison to be built at a cost of $12,000, less furnishings. The two-mill tax levy, if approved by voters, will provide about $140,000 for the project.

Arrangements have been made to move all prisoners in the old building to the large Stark county jail in compliance with the state fire marshal's order, but commissioners point out they have been delaying the transfer, to spare the county additional expense, as long as possible.

City's latest order to the commissioners declares: "Our inspection report shows this building is unsafe, unsanitary and unfit for jail purposes. Insist that our order be complied with immediately and under no circumstances, regardless of whether your tax levy carries, can we permit these buildings to be used for jail purposes."

The first order to vacate the two-story brick prison and a two-story frame building (used as a laundry and storage room adjoining it) was received June 24, 1935. The matter was brought to the state fire marshal's attention last spring after the April grand jury made its report. Gill once demanded that the building be vacated and that no fire be placed in it this fall.

4 Ticket Windows At Reilly Stadium

There are four ticket windows at the entrance to Reilly stadium but, for some reason, most of the football fans patronize the west gate, resulting in a jam at the entrance.

School officials today called upon followers of the Salem High school team to use the east gate as well in order that the crowds might move through the "turnstiles" more quickly.

There is no cause for the crowds to mill about one gate when there are two ticket booths, with two windows to a booth, and four ticket takers at the gate, the school authorities pointed out.

FINLAND READY TO WAR AGAINST SOVIET RUSSIA

Opposes Agreements Such As Imposed On Baltic Neighbors

WOMEN, CHILDREN SENT TO COUNTRY

Fortifications Strengthened; Air Raid Shelters Dug

(By Associated Press)

HELSINKI, Oct. 12.—Finland prepared today for calamity, knowing that peace or war may hang on the demands of Soviet Russia.

The Finns calmly sent their women and children into the country, strengthened their border fortifications and assigned civil guards to strategic points.

Helsinki authorities announced that work would be started today on the digging of air raid shelters in the capital, a city of about 293,000.

The grim-looking sandbags which have been piled up in other European and Scandinavian capitals for weeks also were expected to appear in this troubled corner of the northland.

Ready to Resist

The speed with which nation's affairs were being put in order for a possible emergency supported the declaration in responsible Finnish sources that the nation would oppose military and economic agreements such as its Baltic neighbors yielded and, if necessary, would resist.

Commentators stressed Finland's membership in the so-called "neutrality bloc" of northern states and the Helsinki newspaper Uusi Suomi declared:

"Any attempt to force us to give up our neutral position and force us into some kind of new political scheme will receive absolute and uncompromising opposition."

Officials disclosed that 1,300 free railroad and bus tickets were issued yesterday to those unable to pay. To additional buses had been ordered into service and that funds for an information service had been set aside.

LINER REACHES HARBOR SAFELY

Iroquois Passengers Tortured by Thoughts of Sinking

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—A terrific three-day storm and an ever-flowing stream of sinister rumors tortured 788 Americans—577 passengers and 211 crew men—who reached New York last night on the liner Iroquois—the ship which the German admiralty warned would be sunk by an allied belligerent.

Abaze with lights, the 12-year-old vessel dropped anchor to the cheers of some 2,000 who had gathered to greet her. A giant spotlight played on a large American flag at her stern. Other powerful lights were directed on two other flags—12 by 20 feet—painted on her sides.

Mrs. Mary Stieglman of Baltimore, one of the passengers, declared, "If ever there were a ship of horrors, this was it. The storm was so bad that some of the officers said they expected the top of the boat to blow off. Everyone was ill. Then, they started searching our baggage and wouldn't say what for."

"They made us go into the holds—dark, dirty holds—to identify our trunks. Some of us were so sick we couldn't go. When we told them we couldn't go, they told us they would smash our trunks open."

Several passengers agreed the most frightening of the speculations aboard ship was that a time bomb had been secreted somewhere. Even two United States destroyers, which met the 394-foot ship Monday to form a convoy on orders of the White House caused alarm at first, some passengers rushing to the conclusion that they were hostile vessels.

PLATFORM FOR THE OPPOSITION

Premier Daladier, making France's reply to Germany's proposition for calling off the war, has nothing to offer. He follows Britain's cue: The thing must be settled once and for all, so why wait?

This is supposed to be the position Americans will admire, incidentally. It is part of the thought in this crisis that the United States expects every Englishman and Frenchman to do his duty.

That's nine-tenths poppycock and one-tenth horsefeathers. Americans find it hard to see how the British and French are going to eat their words and wince at the thought of Hitler, making them back down, but something more than belligerency is needed to command admiration here.

Dorothy Thompson, who takes a backseat to no one in the writing business when it comes to disliking Germany, is latest to point out what Britain and France need—a positive proposition. "If Hitler's opponents are going to win this war," asserts Miss Thompson, "they have got to know what they are fighting it for. . . . You can't beat a horse with no horse. What the people of Europe who are fighting this war are looking for is not the old order, but a new one. . . . Getting rid of Hitler is all very well, but Hitler himself is the illustration that there is no such thing as a vacuum. The Allies can't take Hitler's place terms, but they had better put forth a vision of their own."

Amen! There'll be no time for visions after the air raids start.

REDISCOVERING AMERICA

This is Columbus day. There has to be an anniversary of the beginning of things, and Columbus day does the thing to America's satisfaction. It's glad it was discovered and willing to give its discoverer due credit for making such a noteworthy addition to the world.

The fact is, of course, there were people here when Columbus set off so bravely, not knowing where he was going. When news drifted out to the main part of the country that white men were beginning to land in numbers on the eastern coast, those early Americans probably were full of doubt. The pale-faced strangers were up to no good. They were quarrelsome and spent most of their time at home fighting one another.

It probably seemed like a good idea to lay an embargo on arrowheads and draw up an isolationist policy. The principle of the Monroe doctrine was laid down; patriots audibly wondered why the foreigners didn't go back where they came from. The natives were offended by the sound of foreign languages. What they thought was that this country was for the people who had been born in it. They were against any more immigration. They tried to be hospitable, but all they got for their pains was abuse. They gave up.

They were wrong about everything, of course. Even if they'd been right, they still would have been wrong, because they were out-numbered. So America was made safe for Americans and 447 years later we're arguing about an isolationist policy and an embargo on high explosives to Europe. This may be the new world, but it's the same old Europe.

AND THE EVILS THEREOF

So ingrained had become the belief that economic motives helped shove the United States into the last war that the current behavior of business spokesmen still seems odd. Instead of keeping still and letting the government follow its natural drift toward trouble, the spokesmen are shouting from the housetops to be careful. This is contrary to expectation.

It takes no investigation whatever to know why they're doing it, though. They admit they have nothing to gain, businesswise, from war. Taxes would gobble their profits, and bureaucrats would throttle their initiative. When it was all over they'd be left with their memories and the job of getting rid of the bureaucrats. They don't want any part of it.

This is important. What it means, boiled down, is that American business believes the place to save the American way of life is at home. It has no confidence in rescue operations by remote control. It distrusts war and the evils thereof because it thinks it knows what politicians would do to private enterprise under the excuse of national emergency.

No one ever accused businessmen of not being realistic. That's what their leaders are encouraging them to be now in double doses—before it's too late—about the consequences of war—not 3,000 miles away but right here.

TAKE IT EASY

Modernization of houses is on everybody's "good thing" list, but something like this from FHA's publicity department goes too far:

"One survivor of the 'horse and buggy' days remaining to plague home owners is the front porch."

There may have been some things about the "horse and buggy" days that weren't so good, but front porches weren't among them. It doesn't seem possible anyone but a young squirt could overlook the sentiment that surrounds the piazza on the old family homestead.

It was there that Sister entertained her beaux on summer evenings, there that everybody ate homemade ice cream on Sunday afternoons, and there that Papa sat with his shoes off after supper to see what was going on in the neighborhood. It was there they stacked the chairs for the funerals and wheeled out the babies to take their naps.

Besides, after turning their fingers on the "horse and buggy" era once you'd think New Dealers would fight shy of casting any more aspersions on the good old days.

WOULD MODIFY BILL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—Leaders of both sides of the arms embargo controversy sought today to modify the neutrality bill's rigid ban on American ships trading with belligerents.

Half a dozen senators arranged to confer with Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the foreign relations committee on as many proposed changes. Details were not disclosed.

Meanwhile, four more speakers asked for time to carry on the senate's neutrality debate—Senator La Follette (Prog., Wis.) and Bulow (D., S. D.) for retention of the arms embargo and Chavez (D., N. M.) and Taft (R., Ohio) for its repeal.

Senator Bailey (D., N. C.), an advocate of embargo repeal and one of those favoring modification of the shipping restrictions, said he was satisfied that changes would be made "tending to preserve the interests of our merchant marine, which is a great arm of our national defense."

"It is certain," he said, "nothing will be done inconsistent with preserving the peace of this country. This is going to be a war of strangulation according to all evidences, and this strangulation relates directly to commerce on the seas."

"Germany will wish to cut off British and French supplies, and Britain and France will wish to cut off German supplies. We are trying to adjust our ocean commerce to that situation."

A Soviet Family Outing—Ready if Needed

Russia has mighty legions of soldiers but also could call upon a civilian army if it came to a pinch. Almost everyone takes military training in some form. There are rifle clubs, parachute clubs and air clubs. Here's a Soviet family, husband, wife and three children, at a shooting range.

Heredity, Important Topic, Discussed By Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A most valuable book is called YOU AND HEREDITY, by Amram Scheinfeld and Dr. Morton D. Schwartz. (Frederick A. Stokes Co., New York). The authors point out that the effect of heredity has been discussed at great length about animals, but very little has been written which could be understood by the layman about heredity in man—in other words, you.

I take the opportunity of excerpting certain interesting features of the volume.

What we do not inherit: Our children are not affected by any change that takes place within our body cells. Imagine that you have a lake life-size plastic statue of yourself.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest on, and then only through his column.

and inside of it is a small, hermetically sealed container filled with millions of microscopic replicas of this statue. Suppose, then, that you pull out of shape and enlarge the nose of the big statue. Could that, by any means you could conceive, automatically enlarge all the noses of all the millions of little statues inside?

They have bound the feet of Chinese women for centuries, and yet all Chinese female babies are born with normal feet.

You cannot improve your child's mind by educating yourself. Your children would be born with exactly the same mental equipment even if you have acquired a string of degrees from Yale to Oxford.

The age of the male parent makes no difference in the health of the children. A man of 65 is still capable of producing viable children and there are records of men who did. The children are the same in their hereditary factors as if the father were 16.

Pass On Accomplishments? "Can I pass onto my child any of the accomplishments or improvements I have made in myself?"

The answer is "Yes," you can pass on a great deal, but not by heredity—by training and environment.

Animals not of the same variety, but of related kind, can produce offspring, but the offspring are sterile. The most familiar case is the horse and the donkey, which produce the mule, but the mule can produce no offspring. All human beings, however, are fertile with one another. The smallest pygmy and the tallest Nordic could produce a perfectly normal child, because all human beings, regardless of race, type, color or any other classifications, are, as members of the same species, compatible with one another.

At the World's Fair they have a machine that solves all the hereditary problems for a young couple contemplating marriage. A small figure having the characteristics of the mother—blue eyes, brown hair, etc.—is shown, and another shows the characteristics of the father. Punch the button beneath these and soon there is a picture of what the child will look like. Thus, you can eliminate all chance.

PLATFORM FOR THE OPPOSITION

Premier Daladier, making France's reply to Germany's proposition for calling off the war, has nothing to offer. He follows Britain's cue: The thing must be settled once and for all, so why wait?

This is supposed to be the position Americans will admire, incidentally. It is part of the thought in this crisis that the United States expects every Englishman and Frenchman to do his duty.

That's nine-tenths poppycock and one-tenth horsefeathers. Americans find it hard to see how the British and French are going to eat their words and wince at the thought of Hitler, making them back down, but something more than belligerency is needed to command admiration here.

Dorothy Thompson, who takes a backseat to no one in the writing business when it comes to disliking Germany, is latest to point out what Britain and France need—a positive proposition. "If Hitler's opponents are going to win this war," asserts Miss Thompson, "they have got to know what they are fighting it for. . . . You can't beat a horse with no horse. What the people of Europe who are fighting this war are looking for is not the old order, but a new one. . . . Getting rid of Hitler is all very well, but Hitler himself is the illustration that there is no such thing as a vacuum. The Allies can't take Hitler's peace terms, but they had better put forth a vision of their own."

Amen! There'll be no time for visions after the air raids start.

REDISCOVERING AMERICA

This is Columbus day. There has to be an anniversary of the beginning of things, and Columbus day does the thing to America's satisfaction. It's glad it was discovered and willing to give its discoverer due credit for making such a noteworthy addition to the world.

The fact is, of course, there were people here when Columbus set off so bravely, not knowing where he was going. When news drifted out to the main part of the country that white men were beginning to land in numbers on the eastern coast, those early Americans probably were full of doubt. The pale-faced strangers were up to no good. They were queer-looking and spent most of their time at home fighting one another.

It probably seemed like a good idea to lay an embargo on arrowheads and draw up an isolationist policy. The principle of the Monroe doctrine was laid down; patriots audibly wondered why the foreigners didn't go back where they came from. The natives were offended by the sound of foreign languages. What they thought was that this country was for the people who had been born in it. They were against any more immigration. They tried to be hospitable, but all they go for their pains was abuse. They gave up.

They were wrong about everything, of course. Even if they'd been right, they still would have been wrong, because they were out-numbered. So America was made safe for Americans and 447 years later we're arguing about an isolationist policy and an embargo on high explosives to Europe. This may be the new world, but it's the same old Europe.

... AND THE EVILS THEREOF

So ingrained had become the belief that economic motives helped shove the United States into the last war that the current behavior of business spokesmen still seems odd. Instead of keeping still and letting the government follow its natural drift toward trouble, the spokesmen are shouting from the housetops to be careful. This is contrary to expectation.

It takes no investigation whatever to know why they're doing it, though. They admit they have nothing to gain, businesswise, from war. Taxes would gobble their profits, and bureaucrats would throttle their initiative. When it was all over they'd be left with their memories and the job of getting rid of the bureaucrats. They don't want any part of it.

This is important. What it means, boiled down, is that American business believes the place to save the American way of life is at home. It has no confidence in rescue operations by remote control. It distrusts war and the evils thereof because it thinks it knows what politicians would do to private enterprise under the excuse of national emergency.

No one ever accused businessmen of not being realistic. That's what their leaders are encouraging them to be now in double doses—before it's too late—about the consequences of war—not 3,000 miles away but right here.

TAKE IT EASY

Modernization of houses is on everybody's "good thing" list, but something like this from FHA's publicity department goes too far:

"One survivor of the 'horse and buggy' days remaining to plague home owners is the front porch."

There may have been some things about the "horse and buggy" days that weren't so good, but front porches weren't among them. It doesn't seem possible anyone but a young squirt could overlook the sentiment that surrounds the piazza on the old family homestead.

It was there that Sister entertained her beaux on summer evenings, there that everybody ate home-made ice cream on Sunday afternoons, and there that Papa sat with his shoes off after supper to see what was going on in the neighborhood. It was there they stacked the chairs for the funerals and wheeled out the babies to take their naps.

Besides, after burning their fingers on the "horse and buggy" era once you'd think New Dealers would fight shy of casting any more aspersions on the good old days.

Theater Attractions

Ginger Rogers gains new comedy laurels in "Fifth Avenue Girl," which shows at the State theater tonight, Friday and Saturday, with Walter Connolly, Verree Teasdale, James Ellison, Tim Holt, Kathryn Adams, and Franklin Pangborn in supporting roles.

As a girl hired by a millionaire to come into his home and pose as his gold digger girl friend, Ginger Rogers again displays the flair for comedy which added to the success of the recent "Bachelor Mother." Connolly, as the millionaire who sees his wife enamored of a gigolo, his daughter planning to elope with her chauffeur and his son going rapidly to the bad, via the liquid diet path, is second only to the star of the picture in his characterization.

Verree Teasdale, wife of Screen Actor Adolphe Menjou, makes her first film appearance in several years as the wife of the millionaire. Tim Holt, son of Jack Holt, long a favorite in pictures, gets his first big role and handles it competently. Pangborn gives his usual good comedy performance. James Ellison does well in the role of the good looking chauffeur with Communist tendencies. Kathryn Adams, runner-up in the recent "Gateway to Hollywood" talent search, makes her screen debut as the daughter.

POLLY AND HER PALS

By Cliff Sterrett

REGINA, Sask.—A disgusted Regina boy, just starting school, returned home unexpectedly one morning. He complained: "Why should I spend all day there just to learn 'Hi Diddle Diddle' I can learn that at home."

Try the classifieds — a gold mine of value.

Theater Attractions

Ginger Rogers gains new comedy laurels in "Fifth Avenue Girl," which shows at the State theater tonight, Friday and Saturday, with Walter Connolly, Verree Teasdale, James Ellison, Tim Holt, Kathryn Adams, and Franklin Pangborn in supporting roles.

As a girl hired by a millionaire to come into his home and pose as his gold digger girl friend, Ginger Rogers again displays the flair for comedy which added to the success of the recent "Bachelor Mother." Connolly, as the millionaire who sees his wife enamored of a gigolo, his daughter planning to elope with her chauffeur and his son going rapidly to the bad, via the liquid diet path, is second only to the star of the picture in his characterization.

Verree Teasdale, wife of Screen Actor Adolphe Menjou, makes her first film appearance in several years as the wife of the millionaire. Tim Holt, son of Jack Holt, long a favorite in pictures, gets his first big role and handles it competently. Pangborn gives his usual good comedy performance. James Ellison does well in the role of the weak, good looking chauffeur with Communist tendencies. Kathryn Adams, runner-up in the recent "Gateway to Hollywood" talent search, makes her screen debut as the daughter.

At the Grand theater Friday and Saturday is the Clarence E. Mulford western story, "Range War," with William Boyd as Honesome Cassidy, Russell Hayden, Willard Robertson, Matt Moore and Betty Moran.

National WASHER and IRONER Week October 14 to 21

HOUSEHOLD WASHERS BETTER THAN EVER NOW

Once upon a time, and not so long ago at that, household washers were as big and cumbersome as safes and even though they abounded in gears, cog wheels, clutches, chain belts, and whatnot, they were called "de luxe" models.

Such clumsy, inefficient washers sold twenty or twenty-five years ago for as much as $175.

But so at today's washers, with their big capacity, their glistening exterior, efficient home aids ready for everything from a handkerchief to a blanket. Today's washers are fully ten times as efficient in every way as those that were hailed with delight by women ten years ago.

But the homemaker today pays, for example, $63.50, barely more than what a far less efficient washer cost ten years ago. In National Washer-Ironer Week, Oct. 14-21, women everywhere will be invited to examine and find out for themselves the great improvements being made available for them by all enterprising home laundering equipment dealers.

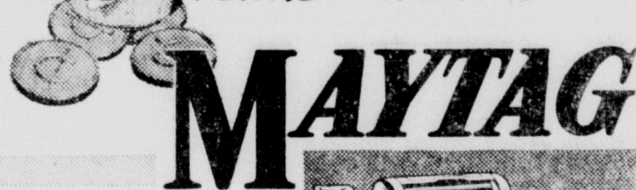

The late 1939 models of household washers and ironers are more efficient than ever, and there can be no better time for viewing them, and judging by what one sees, than in National Washer-Ironer week, Oct. 14-21.

These improved home laundering appliances catch the eye and lure the homemaker in windows and stores throughout Salem.

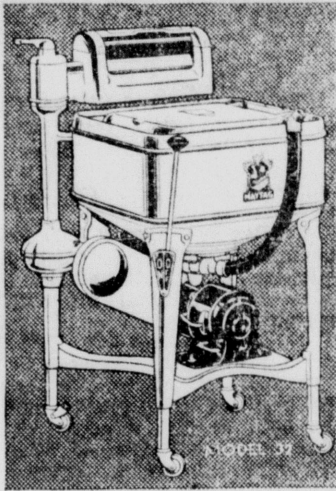

Merchants here were quick to cooperate in planning to show women the newest and most useful in these labor, time and money-saving home aids.

Orange, blue and black, official colors of the week. Identify the signs of dealers who have joined in the city-wide demonstration.

"GOB" DESCRIBES BREMEN'S TRIP

Huge German Liner Arrives In Russia After Evading Britishers

made to save the crew in event of an attack.

The vessel was painted gray as she sped across the Atlantic.

She traveled much of the time in heavy mist, which helped to conceal her from any ships near her course.

Post said the Bremen flew the Soviet flag and the flag of the North German-Lloyd line, but carried no German colors.

Called Crew Together

He said Capt. Ahrens called the crew together Sept. 3, the day Great Britain and France declared war, and told them the war had started.

"It doesn't look very good for us," he quoted the captain as saying, "for I've sworn that the English won't seize me and my ship while I'm alive. I would rather sink the Bremen."

Post told of delays in New York and how the vessel sailed Aug. 30 with only a few officers knowing where she was going.

"Nobody knew what route would be taken," Post said.

"We were making fun of the fact that everybody in the world was asking 'Where is the Bremen?' But the prospect of running the English blockade was not very cheering."

"The first morning out everybody who had nothing more urgent to do, including butchers, stewards and cooks, plus a few sailors, all got pots of gray paint. Life boats were swung out and the men applied the paint to the sides of the ship, welding paint brushes with long handles.

"In no time the Bremen was not the Bremen any more. You may have heard 'pump or down' but we had to 'paint or down.' In the mist at 200 meters (656 feet) distance you could not have seen the Bremen."

Calls Were Heard

"The Bremen was called by radio from various stations, but of course kept silent."

"From the icy cold we concluded we were far up north, which proved to be the case afterward."

"We were again called together by the captain, who told us that between England and Iceland there was a watch of English ships every 10 miles; that they might not be men-o-war, but anyhow they were ships ready to seize us and take us in."

"Drills were conducted regularly to ensure that we would be able to get into the lifeboats as quickly as possible in case of emergency. All day we were listening in for alarm signals which were set up everywhere in the ship."

"The cabins of the crew in the fore of the ship were left vacant so that in case of a collision the crew would be safer. Barrels of gasoline were on deck so that if English men-o-war neared the Bremen could be set on fire."

BRICKER SCANS RELIEF ISSUE

Will Poll Legislators To Determine Special Session Necessity

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12—Gov. John W. Bricker's decision to poll members of the Ohio legislature on the need for a special relief session today brought mixed reactions from house and senate leaders.

Republicans expressed themselves generally as opposed to a special session unless they were shown that an absolute emergency existed. Democrats indicated favor for a special session to consider demands for more relief money from urban centers, especially Cleveland and Toledo.

House Speaker William McCulloch declared, "I am opposed to any special session unless it is made definitely clear that there is an absolute crisis which would make such a move mandatory."

Frank E. Whittemore of Akron, the senate's Republican leader, expressed belief a special session would be necessary, but that it would not have to be held until next year.

The house's Republican majority leader, Rep. J. Harry McGreggor of Coshocton county, said he had not been shown that a special session to provide additional relief funds was necessary, but would accept Governor Bricker's appraisal of conditions.

The Republicans, who have a heavy majority in the legislature, went along with most of Governor Bricker's recommendations in the regular session.

"I am opposed to a special session," McGreggor said, "unless a real emergency exists and unless there is grave danger of people going hungry and being deprived of shelter."

The house Republican leader declared, however, that if additional relief money was needed, he favored "meeting the issue fairly and squarely" instead of asking the local governments to borrow further in anticipation of future revenues.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12—Kids really like to go to school!

"It's not like when you and I went to school," laughed Mrs. W. R. Cavanaugh of Lakewood. "My children are eager to attend. The seats and desks are movable. They can sit now and where they please. They can do almost what they want to."

By the time they are through the grades and get into high school they are carving a niche for themselves in a community. When they are seniors they feel that they have acquired personality."

Mrs. Herbert Holscher of Columbus sends her boy to University High school, where he plays football.

"Why does he like school? They have a marvelous library there and no text books. He must think for himself and find the solution to his problems. He is being taught to be a man with a man's responsibility and he likes it."

Mrs. S. L. Betagole and Mrs. Harold Dine, president and vice-president respectively of Cincinnati's largest P.T.A. group, Avondale, declared that modern methods of teaching were responsible for children's avidity for learning.

"Modern teachers realize that each child is a person and attempts to develop the personalities that come under their care," said Mrs. Dine. "Freedom of thought, speech, and action keynote the modern teachings."

"And that's how it should be," put in Mrs. Betagole. "Is it any wonder that kids like to go to school?"

"GOB" DESCRIBES BREMEN'S TRIP

made to save the crew in event of an attack.

The vessel was painted gray as she sped across the Atlantic. She traveled much of the time in heavy mist, which helped to conceal her from any ships near her course.

Post said the Bremen flew the Soviet flag and the flag of the North German-Lloyd line, but carried no German colors.

Called Crew Together

He said Capt. Ahrens called the crew together Sept. 3, the day Great Britain and France declared war, and told them the war had started. "It doesn't look very good for us," he quoted the captain as saying, "for I've sworn that the English won't seize me and my ship while I'm alive. I would rather sink the Bremen."

Post told of delays in New York and how the vessel sailed Aug. 30 with only a few officers knowing where she was going.

"Nobody knew what route would be taken," Post said.

"We were making fun of the fact that everybody in the world was asking 'Where is the Bremen?' But the prospect of running the English blockade was not very cheering."

"The first morning out everybody who had nothing more urgent to do, including butchers, stewards and cooks, plus a few sailors, all got pots of gray paint. Life boats were swung out and the men applied the paint to the sides of the ship, welding paint brushes with long handles."

COACH FEARS LET-DOWN MAY HURT QUAKERS

Schroeder Expects Struthers To Give Salem Hard Battle

Big Red Boasts Heavy Line and Set of Fleet Backs; Left Halfback Vargin Is Leading Threat To Quakers In Friday Night Grid Tussle

The road to an unbeaten season for Salem High school's 1939 football team may be blocked tomorrow night by a twice-beaten Struthers eleven which Coach Carl Schroeder figures will give the Quakers all the opposition they can handle.

Despite Struthers' unimpressive record, Schroeder can see nothing but a stiff battle ahead for the Quakers as they return to Reilly stadium for their fourth game of the current grid campaign.

Fearing a let-down more than anything else, Schroeder has worked the Quakers hard this week in an attempt to guard against overconfidence and a subsequent slump in their performance.

In support of his belief that Struthers is anything but a set-up for the Quakers, Schroeder points to the Big Red's performance last week when they battled a strong Campbell Memorial team on even terms for two periods before succumbing to Memorial's superior attack.

Coached by Ben Barrett, Struthers has won one game and tied one in four starts to date. The Big Red posted its lone victory over Youngstown Woodrow Wilson, 18-0, in its third game after tying Lowellville, 17-17, in the opening contest. Defeats were handed Struthers by Girard, 18-0, and Campbell Memorial, 26-6.

Assistant Coach Frank Gordon, who scouted Struthers last week, reported to Schroeder that the Big Red boasts a heavy line and a set of fast backs, headed by Left Halfback Vargin. Gordon said that Vargin must be stopped if Struthers is to be conquered. The Big Red's ace ball-toter is small, weighing only 135 pounds, but his speed makes up for his lack of weight.

Another backfield threat is Quarterback Battista, who played against the Quakers last year when blonde Paul Anderson led Struthers to a 25-12 victory.

The big Struthers line is built around three veterans, Quinn, Bruner and Green. Quinn, a guard, weighs 190 pounds, while Green, a tackle, tips the scales at 210 pounds. Bruner, a 160-pound end, is rated as a better-than-average pass receiver. The three forward wall veterans all played against the Quakers last season.

Passes are expected to figure prominently in the Struthers attack. Believing that the Quakers' defense has stood up well against three opponents, Schroeder has continued to stress offensive tactics in practice sessions this week. He has not overlooked defensive practice completely, but has concentrated

TEAMS PUZZLE WISCONSIN AND INDIANA HEADS

McMillin and Layden Are Stumped By Their Squads' Showing

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 12. — The Big Ten football teams of Wisconsin and Indiana, which are stumping even their own coaches, get together Saturday in what may be termed a game to the "last analysis."

The Hoosiers, while lacking speed in the backfield, in two games have scored 15 more points than they did during the entire 1938 season. Their points, too, are coming by razzle-dazzle passing, an item not altogether characteristic of Coach Bo McMillin's teams.

But as Bo points out, "They just gotta throw the ball around if they are going to get any place."

Haven't Won Yet For all of 36 points, however, Indiana has yet to taste victory. The Hoosiers tied Nebraska, and lost to Iowa in their conference opener, 32 to 29.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher "just can't understand" his Wisconsin Badgers, who will be opening their Big Ten schedule Saturday. They won a close one with Marquette, then "fell over their own feet" last week in losing to Texas.

"If I hadn't seen it I wouldn't have believed it," said Stuhldreher referring to the Texas game.

LAYDEN WORRIED ABOUT RESERVES

Notre Dame Plays Tough Southern Methodist This Week

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 12. — Coach Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, gambling the Irish chances for an unbeaten season on a group of inexperienced substitutes, will give the Notre Dame reserve "deck" another shuffle Saturday.

Poker-faced Elmer isn't kidding himself about what lies ahead. He knows his club will have its hands full Saturday afternoon against the Mustangs of Southern Methodist University. But while he isn't worrying out loud about the remainder of a "suicide" schedule, he knows that one thing alone will keep his Irish machine "in high" — development of a tested, capable second string eleven.

"Against Purdue the reserves looked weak," he said today. "They didn't go so bad against Georgia Tech. But we have to give them more work. We are a little leary of their ability, no question of that, and we don't want to take too much chance on losing games. But we are on a spot—unless we develop replacements we'll be in a tight situation the rest of the season."

Notre Dame just nosed out Purdue and Georgia Tech, winning both games on field goals. Some observers feel Layden's club is tottering on the edge of diving into the tied or defeated division. But Notre Dame gridiron history is crammed with surprises and Layden's coaching ability and Irish spirit—reserves or no reserves—will give SMU a busy afternoon.

The only previous time the teams have met was in 1930—in Notre Dame's opening game of a season in which they went on to a second straight national title. Within the first five minutes each team had scored seven points. From then on it was a hectic battle with the Irish winning 20-14.

SMU probably will stick to that old southwest custom of filling the air with leather inasmuch as Notre Dame allowed two opponents to complete 13 and 28 passes this season. But Layden insists that whether it passes or plunges he's going to try and pull several "aces" out of those second, third and fourth string packs.

A wrestling show, originally scheduled for the Memorial building Monday, Oct. 23, has been postponed. Promoter Jimmy Perry announced today.

The postponement was caused because the Memorial building is not available on this date, Perry said. Another date is being arranged and will be announced in the near future.

Hull-Daisetta High Out For 39th Victory In Row

Bobcats of Texas Haven't Dropped Game Since 1935; Change Coaches' Strategy, Still Win

HULL-DAISETTA, Texas, Oct. 12.—You couldn't buy a dying man a drink of water today in Hull and Daisetta, next-door neighbor oil field towns in deep south Texas.

The Hull-Daisetta football team, which the two communities share, went out to meet the ancient enemy at Liberty.

The boys had at stake a delicate victory record that has withstood 38 teams and a switch in coaches and coaching strategy.

So nobody wanted to miss the fun. Back in 1935, the Bobcats dropped a victory to Cleveland, Texas, High, and then won the next two games, the last of the season.

They've been winning ever since. The streak began under Coach Clyde Gott, whose offense began from the short punt formation. He left in 1937 to accept a better coaching position and Bill Stages, former Texas Aggie end, took his place.

Uses 70 Plays Bill used single wing, box and punt formations, and gave the kids 70 odd plays. The winning ways continued.

The boys—most of them sons of strapping oil field workers—have won the regional Class A title of the Texas Interscholastic League three straight years. Scoring 942 points to the enemy's 101.

This year Stages has the biggest team in the school's history—two full teams and seven substitutes on his No. 1 squad, and a starting eleven averaging about 175 pounds. In all but three games in two years, the Bobcats have driven to a touchdown the first time they got their hands on the ball.

INDUCT SUNDAY SCHOOL LEADERS

Winona Methodist Classes Install Officers, Teachers

WINONA, Oct. 12.—Installation of the new officers and teachers of the M. E. Sunday school was conducted by Rev. O. A. Kelly following the Sunday school period Sunday morning as follows:

Superintendent, Lowell Whinery; assistant superintendent, Richard Stamp; secretary, Roberta Godward; assistant secretary, Fae Andree; treasurer, Edmer Stamp; librarian, Arlene Loudon; basement superintendent, Mrs. Richard Stamp; leaders:

Class No. 1, Salt of the Earth, Frank Fultz, Donald Mayhew.

Class No. 2, Mizpah, Mrs. L. J. Mountz.

Classes No. 3 and 4, Edward Jenkins.

Class No. 5, Upstreamers, Ethel Andre.

Class No. 6, Kins, Mrs. L. A. Weaver.

Class No. 7, Mrs. Clyde Whitacre.

Class No. 8, Mrs. Edward Jenkins.

Class No. 9, Mrs. Earl Tumble.

Class No. 10, Mrs. Raymond Brandt.

Lowell Whinery left Monday for Cleveland where he will enroll in the Cleveland Bible school.

Sherman Brandingham has accepted a position with the Andalusia Dairy Co.

Class Entertained

Mrs. Willard Cope and Mrs. Clarence Alexander were hostesses to members of the Mizpah class Monday night in the Methodist Episcopal church basement. Supper was served to 30 members at tables made lovely with autumn leaves and Halloween decorations.

Rev. O. A. Kelly, Mrs. A. R. Anderson, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dunn were guests of the class.

Lowell Whinery installed the new class officers as follows: President, Fred Park; vice president, Mrs. Clyde Whitacre; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Trainor; class leader, Mrs. L. J. Mountz.

The new president presided over the business meeting. It was announced that on Oct. 23 the Mizpah class will hold its first annual class reunion in the church social rooms. All former and present members, teachers, and ministers have been invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Bennett and sons Glenn and Lea were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ober, Barborton, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moore visited with Mr. Moore's mother, Mrs. Wilhelmina Moore, Alliance, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Oilphant, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Satterthwait, C. E. Stanley, Clifford Hartley, and Gilbert Edgerton attended the Farm Bureau field day at Columbus, Tuesday.

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Deputy Sheriff Vernon La More is bemoaning the lack of dignity and authority which always conferred on a peace officer by the wearing of a sheriff's badge. He was talking with the inmates of the sheriff's office when a released prisoner walked out. The latter picked up the deputy sheriff's badge, which happened to be lying on the table, and still has it.
